Ombudsman- what must one be? Must be one with a number of attributes that would hopefully allow them to do the job correctly. Hopefully some military background, to understand one aspect of our situations. Not connected in any way to the things that we would need help getting problems solved. This individual would have experience, or have worked, or been involved in many different aspects that surround us.

J2S, or what ever entity that supply's the people to take care of us, must be set up to effectively do just that. Having properly trained and the number of people needed to do such, and hopefully those that care to do what they do – well as some have. The day we assembled in the all purpose room to settle our concerns, was unconstitutional to the members at our home, and must be dealt with accordingly!
